White Terracotta Rainscreen Panels Create Modern Backdrop

The Story County Medical Center - Outpatient Unit serves as a dramatic and modern rainscreen assembly. It was designed by Invision Architecture of Des Moines. This Expansion brings a sense of peace and tranquility, when one is not feeling their best.

The building blends together wood, white Terra5 terracotta panels, lighting, glass and complementary landscaping. The choice of white terracotta allows the back of the building to have simple statement, while visitors' eyes are drawn to the front entrance. The crisp, white than is echoed throughout the interior.
