Bold Innovation Meets Lasting Design: Terra5 Rainscreen Elevates Eldon James Headquarters

The new headquarters for Eldon James Corporation in Fort Collins, CO, designed by The Architects' Studio, features a striking façade clad in Terra5 terracotta panels in rich red and buff tones. This bold material palette enhances the building's visual identity and reflects the innovative spirit of the company. The use of Terra5 rainscreen not only delivers aesthetic appeal but also supports energy efficiency and long-term durability. As the centerpiece of the new campus, the headquarters stands out as a dynamic example of great design and functionality.
