Terra5 Terracotta Brings Bold Identity to Palmer College of Chiropractic

Palmer College of Chiropractic in Florida features a modern design that reflects its role as a state-of-the-art educational institution.

Panel Types: Terra5®

Terra5 terracotta rainscreen panels in a rich orange hue were used to create a bold and durable façade that complements the college's forward-thinking identity. The rainscreen system enhances building performance while delivering a contemporary aesthetic suited to the Florida climate. This project showcases how innovative cladding solutions can support both architectural vision and institutional excellence.
