

TERRA COTTA SUNSCREEN

West Whiteland Township Municipal – Philadelphia, PA
A contemporary terracotta sunscreen complementing an energy-efficient design.

Cee Jay Frederick Associates designed the West Whiteland Township Municipal Complex to function, in iconic fashion, as a focal element at the intersection of the main street in the Town Center it occupies and serves to help define. The building is a collective response to the need for sustainability in design and the exterior aesthetic is intended to comprise a contemporary interpretation of the architectural history and growth of the Township. Terra5 sunscreens were used to support the building's strong horizontal lines while providing solar and heat protection with the window shading.
